"German Syrup"

Here is an incident from the South—Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since." PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines Co., Miss.

A Unique Character.

A unique character in the Princeton college faculty is Joseph Korge, professor of modern languages. Adventure and experience of a rough nature have marked his life, the earlier part of which was spent in Europe. Coming from a family of Polish gentlemen who made arms their profession, he went into the German army soon after finishing his university education, and for a time was closely associated with Prince Frederick. Later on the Polish insurrection drew him into it and made a longer residence within Russian dominions undesirable. So the ardent Pole came to this country, and won distinction in the Union army before he settled down as a pedagogue under the shadow of old Nassau.—Harper's Weekly.

About Book Reviewing.

An expert book reviewer does not need to read a book thoroughly in order to describe it sufficiently for his purpose. Most newspaper book reviews are mere descriptions and not criticisms, and such notices can be written quickly by one who has had experience and has the necessary ability. When a publisher sends in a book of sufficient importance to deserve a careful criticism, either the editor takes time to read it or he delegates the work to somebody else. There are a few papers that always give careful reviews of the books they notice, but their number is very small.—Writer.

A Statue of Columbus.

This city owns one piece of statuary that few persons see, although it is a work peculiarly significant because of the approaching anniversary. Standing in the gloom of the first floor hall in the arsenal building in Central park is a marble statue of Columbus of heroic size. It is the work of Emma Stebbins, and it was made in Rome in 1867. The great discoverer stands with one hand on the tiller and the other grasping the light mantle about his shoulders.—New York World.

Dot and Her Kitten.

Little Dot—Mamma, my kitty is thirsty.

Mamma—Why do you think so?

Little Dot—Cause she went to my toy kitchen and began workin' at ze pump handle wiz her paw.

Mamma (smiling)—You are very considerate with your kitty, my pet.

Little Dot—Kitty is too sweet for anything. I don't wonder she is always licking herself.—Good News.

Just the Same.

The other day a Virginia negro dug up a shell at Malvern Hill which had been buried since 1862, but when he put it to roast in a fire so as to get at the kernel it went off and killed a plow horse and left the darkey only one leg to go on for the rest of his life. Those old shells were loaded for b'n.—Detroit Free Press.

Masculine Intuition.

Mr. Simkins—Our new neighbor, Mrs. Lamkins, is not a very neat housekeeper, is she?

Mrs. Simkins—Indeed she isn't. She lets things lay around every which way.

How did you know?

Mr. Simkins—Oh, her husband looks so jolly.—New York Weekly.

A Survival of the Fittest.

While hunting antelope on the prairies of Colorado I was the witness of a very interesting chase between an eagle and a jack rabbit. The various circles and downward sweeps of the eagle attracted my attention, and I resolved to ascertain the reason. I put spur to my horse and succeeded in gaining an elevation from which a good view of the chase could be had. The rabbit, to all appearances, was very much bewildered, and would run first in one direction and then another, and sometimes in circles, its pursuer, the eagle, following its every turn.

Finally the eagle, as if tired of this sport, with a vicious downward swoop and a stroke of the wing laid the rabbit out lifeless on the prairie. At this moment I gave a tremendous yell, and at the same time rode rapidly toward them, which had the desired effect of frightening the eagle away, leaving its victim in my possession, which turned out to be the only game I bagged that day.—Forest and Stream

Cautious, but Reasonable.

Mrs. Primus—I saw you riding in the park with Willie Ross and Jack Bolton. I didn't know your papa would let you ride alone with gentlemen.

Miss Secunda—He doesn't object if the gentlemen are rival lovers.—Munsey's Weekly.

PAUPER IMMIGRATION.

A question of as much, if not more, importance to the west, and to the whole country, as the silver question or free coinage act, is the final perfection and passage of the law restricting foreign immigration. For months past herds of foreigners have been crowding into eastern ports from all sections of Europe, and while now and then we read of the extraordinary surveillance of the officers in ferreting out some miserable wretch who can be returned to his or her home under the pauper law, we do not hear of the hundreds of paupers, criminals and scum that wriggle into the country through the loop-holes that are on every hand. A few years ago the Chinese question was the all absorbing topic. Men took the stump throughout the length and breadth of the west, and painted a picture of the future of the darkest character. Newspapers urged the immediate action of Congress to stay the host coming from the west. The east thought our fears were magnified, but now there is a host coming from the east and flooding the whole country like a locust scourge in Egypt. Steamship companies, corporations employing cheap labor, and other means, give a class a foothold in our country that anyone of which, in comparison with a Chinaman or Japanese, would be an insult to the latter. By a short residence in the country and by trickery, they become full fledged American citizens without knowing the meaning of the term, simply handled to gain the ends of scheming politicians, caring little what it is all about, but simply going through the forms required by direction of a leader.

Is it a wonder that our boys and girls rebel when put on a level with these scavengers, forced to earn a living side by side with a perhaps a person born, brought up and graduated in crime? And yet we oft times wonder why some poor boy or girl of American birth has fallen, and with earnest solicitude for his or her former associates point to the fallen one as an example of depravity and a warning, and to the frugal foreigners as an example, to emulate, to wax rich and perhaps powerful, yet not considering whether the means are honorable or decent.

A PRESSING INVITATION.

The Democrats of Santa Barbara, California, are jubilant over the prospect of a visit to the Pacific Coast by Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland, and have sent him the following invitation, which is signed by leading Democrats in all parts of the county:

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Santa Barbara, city and county, learn with pleasure of the prospective visit to this Coast of yourself and wife and hereby extend to you both the most cordial invitation to become our guest. We recognize in you the living exponent of the National Democracy; a man of the people and for the people; that every true American citizen in all future generations will hold in high honor and grateful regard; and one whose life exhibits singular attractive examples of success and fame, that dauntless moral courage, indomitable will and independent self-reliance may accomplish under the flag of the greatest nation on earth. Peace bath her victories no less renowned than war, and in your public career your life has made your name an eminently historical one in the annals of your State and national records and we each, one and all extend to you a California welcome to visit the fairest spot the sun ever shown upon, made golden by the most delicious and luscious fruits, exquisite flowers, charming scenery, with the sun shine of perpetual Spring, where you and your wife can meet your countrymen, who will vie with each other in making your stay amongst us a bright spot in the history of your national career."

CLEVELAND OR HARRISON?

Senator Edmunds, in a recent interview, said in reply to the following:

"If Harrison should be the Republican candidate and Cleveland the Democratic candidate, which would be likely to be elected?"

The Senator was non-committal, but rather indicated that he thought Cleveland's chances of election were better than Harrison's.

"Senator, what do you think of the third party?"

"It is a short-lived affair, but likely to last long enough to give both parties some trouble. The election of President may fall to the House of Representatives. No one can tell what their strength may be for a time, but no party can live on the demands they are making."

California's Appropriation.

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—It is denied at the Controller's office that Controller Colgan has said he would refuse to sign a warrant for $300,000 appropriated for the World's Fair, and that in fact he had not considered the matter at all, as the appropriation does not become available until after July 1st. The Controller, it was said, will pass on the matter when it comes before him, and not before.

The Thetis Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—The United States steamer Thetis has arrived here on the Mare Island navy yard.

BY TELEGRAPH.

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

Loantaka Wins the Suburban.

New York, June 16.—The track was in splendid condition and everything favorable for a great race and fast time.

By 2 o'clock fully 27,000 people were on the grounds. In the first race, sweepstakes for all ages, five furlongs, Civil Service won, Eon second and Correction third. Time, 1:08.

Three-year-olds, one mile and three-sixteenths.—Portchester won, Hoodlum second and Tammany third. Time, 2:03 1-5.

Loantaka won the suburban, Major Domo second and Cassius third, Tenny finishing sixth. Time, 2:07.

As the horses approached the upper turn Major Domo had three-quarters of a length the best of it, while Demuth was two lengths in front of Cassius, with Fitzjames next, followed by Tenny who was getting the whip. The interest at this period was intense, and shouts of dismay arose. "Tenny is beaten!" cried backers of the favorite, and it was true, for, notwithstanding Isaac Murphy's vigorous work, Tenny could not improve his position. As they swung into the stretch Major Domo was the first to show his head before Demuth, who was ahead before Cassius, while Fitzjames, Loantaka and Tenny came next, with Tea Tray, thanks to his ugly temper, bringing up the rear. They ran in this order down to the last furlong when Martybergen out loose with Loantaka and it was all over. With space killing strides he passed horse after horse, amid the plaudits of winners and losers alike, and won a length and a half from Major Domo who beat Cassius a length for second place, then came Fitzjames, Banquet, Tenny, Riley, Demuth, Isaac Lewis and Tea Tray in the order named. The fractional time of the race is: Quarter 23 1-5, half 50, three-quarters 1:15, mile 1:41, mile and a quarter 2:07.

Ohio Convention.

COLUMBUS, O., June 16.—The enthusiasm of the convention found full vent in the ratification of the partisan threats of Chairman Nevin, and in approving his eulogy of the Republican leaders. Near the conclusion of his address Nevin said: "At the right hand of the President stands a man who for keen intellect, broad statesmanship and devotion to American interests and American progress is the peer of any man who ever lived or ever will live, James G. Blaine." The name of Blaine was never heard by the Convention. Little by little as peroration reached its height the audience caught the infection, and from a general hand clapping the applause developed into one mighty roar that shook the building. Men shouted and women waved their fans, while a thousand voices over and over again repeated in musical chorus: "Blaine, Blaine, Blaine." After the appointment of committee the convention adjourned until to-morrow morning.

The Lone Highwayman.

ELLENBURG, Wash., June 16.—The Wenatche stage arrived here this afternoon two hours ahead of time with horses covered with foam. The driver announced that the stage was held up by a lone highwayman 25 miles from here. After ordering the driver to throw out the mail bags the robber compelled the only passenger to rip them open. He ransacked the mail and took the registered packages, and told the driver to proceed. Eight registered packages are missing. The robber wore a black mask and carried a revolver and shot gun. The Sheriff and posse have gone in pursuit of the highwayman.

Kilrain Knocked Out.

New York, June 16.—The long discussed boxing contest between Jake Kilrain of Baltimore and Frank Slavin of Australia for a $10,000 purse took place to-night at the club house of the Granite Athletic Association of Hoboken. Slavin was declared winner in the ninth round.

Slavin adopted rushing tactics and went right at his man. Kilrain was knocked down three times in third round, but struggled on until the ninth round, when he gave up the fight.

[Owing to wire trouble it is impossible to obtain only a meagre account of the Slavin-Kilrain fight.]

Sued For Damages.

New York, June 16.—The Bragg Manufacturing Co. of California has begun suits for over $750,000 damages against the cities of New York and Brooklyn for alleged infringement of horse releasing device, patent obtained by Robert Bragg, an old fireman in San Francisco in 1876. Bragg, it is stated, has already secured damages against San Francisco, Stockton, San Jose, Terre Haute and other cities.

The Corwin Sails.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—The revenue cutter Corwin took coal to-day and sailed for the Pribyloff islands. Captain Hooper, it is stated, carries copies of the President's proclamation, ordering the closed season, which he will distribute to all vessels concerned, which may be found in the Behring sea.

Picknickers Struck by Lightning.

St. Louis, June 16.—During a severe storm this afternoon some 25 picknickers huddled in an outhouse in Forest park for protection from the rain. Suddenly there was a sharp flash of lightning, a quick, reverberating peal of thunder and then shrieks, moans and cries for help issuing from the building. A wild scene of confusion followed and a policeman hurried to the scene. Nearly all the occupants of the outhouse were more or less injured, Sadie McArthur, aged 12, being killed and three very seriously but not fatally hurt. Others suffered severe nervous shocks.

General Chipman Rejected.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Thomas H. Thompson, Secretary of the California Commission, was greatly surprised when told that Chipman had been rejected. "Why," he exclaimed, "I have my pockets full of telegrams from California rejoicing over Chipman's appointment, and saying all the endorsements the Board of Control might want would be furnished. I suppose, however, it is too late now. What will be the effect of this news in California I hardly know, except it will be a great disappointment."

Shot His Wife.

MILWAUKEE, June 16.—James Muggley fatally shot his wife this afternoon. Muggley married a woman in a Minneapolis house of ill repute and brought her here. She went back to her old associates, however, and Muggley, in a fit of desperation, killed her.

Orders Countermanded.

VALLEJO, June 16.—Orders came from Washington this afternoon countermanding the sending of ships to Behring sea and stopping all preparations. Naval officials do not understand the order, but fancy that Canada has objected to warlike proceedings.

A Tunnel Caves In.

PORT HURON, June 16.—A big cave in occurred at the Port Huron and Grand Trunk tunnel this morning. The north bank gave way and sank into the approach. It will take two months to remove the earth that caved in.

The Grand Encampment I. O. O. F.

The Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. of Nevada convened at 10 o'clock Monday morning at Winnemucca. The regular routine of business was transacted, after which the following named officers were elected for the ensuing term: Grand Patriarch, H. P. Brown of Reno; Grand High Priest, G. R. Krenkle of Winnemucca; Grand Senior Warden, Wm. Easton of Austin; Grand Junior Warden, D. Kitzmeyer of Carson; Grand Scribe, L. Guggenheim of Virginia; Grand Treasurer, J. A. Hunsdon of Dayton; Inside Sentinel, R. C. Leeper of Reno; Outside Sentinel, M. Reinhart of Winnemucca; Grand Marshal, Robert Raywood of Virginia; Trustees, J. J. Becker of Reno, F. M. Fellows of Winnemucca, and J. R. Shaw of Dayton.

The tide of immigration swelled to 17, 166 at New York week before last.

Colonel Ingersoll says that "the Alliance party is only the old Greenback party revamped and half-soled."

MARRIED.

YOUNG-FREEMAN.—At the Golden Eagle Hotel in Reno, June 15, 1891, by Rev. P. V. Fisher, R. B. Young to Miss Sara Freeman.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No To Itself other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

"Hello! Hello! Hello!"

"Well, what is it?"

"How is your mother, this morning?"

"Your mother better; she had a real restful sleep last night; she is almost rid of her night-awakes, cough and nervousness, and is growing quite cheerful. How grateful we all are to you for that bottle of medicine."

"Don't speak of gratitude. What does the doctor say?"

"He says he never saw so wonderful a change in such a short time. He says he has tried to cure him with his medicine, but he can't like to tell him."

"That's right. I am an old friend, you know. I'm sure your mother will get well again. I'm sure your mother will get well again. I'm sure your mother will get well again."

"Never! Dr. Fergus' Golden Medical Discovery cured my mother's cough, cold, and all her troubles. It is a grand remedy to build up and cure in every case. It taken in time and given a fair trial, or money will be refunded."

"Golden Medical Discovery" has cured severe, lingering coughs and arrested Consumption, or Lung-Scrophulous, in thousands of cases. Col. F. O. Lord arrived from Virginia by private conveyance yesterday afternoon.

The total wheat crop of France this year will be but little more than half the average.

Marshal Hale, of the firm of Hale Bros. & Co., Sacramento, died in San Jose Monday last.

A $3,000,000 hotel about to be built in New York will have 600 living rooms and 265 bath rooms.

H. P. Keating of Virginia and W. B. Tobey of Carson were passengers for San Francisco last night.

Colonel E. D. Boyle of Virginia arrived yesterday by private conveyance and left last night for San Francisco.

The Limited Mail made a "big hit" in Carson, and had a crowded house in Virginia last night. It is a popular play.

Lord Brooke is about to institute proceedings for a divorce. The Prince of Wales will be an important witness in the case.

The Prince of Wales has been reprimanded by his mother, and he has promised never to handle cards again. Good boy.

A new pack of cards has the portrait of some member of the royal family of Great Britain doing service on each of the face cards.

Governor Colcord and State Treasurer John Egan returned to Carson yesterday morning, after paying an official visit to the Asylum.

At Brest, in France, the yield of milk has been increased by giving the cows hot water instead of cold. The increase is said to be one-third.

Francis G. Newlands remained in the State long enough to announce himself a candidate for Congressman. He is now rusticated at Bar Harbor.

The primary school exercises will take place today at 1:15 p. m. at the Baptist church. All the parents of the children and their friends should attend.

It is now announced that the Kentucky log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln's parents were married, has been secured for exhibition at the World's Fair.

Mrs. G. W. Mapes and Dr. Hogan came in from Stillwater yesterday afternoon, bringing with them Miss Lotta Mapes, who is quite sick with typhoid pneumonia.

Henry Fiske of the firm of Gerlach & Fiske came in from the Granite Creek range yesterday. He says the late frost seriously injured the grain in that country.

The friends and acquaintances of Miss Quaffie are most cordially invited to be present at a farewell reception tendered her by the Alumni at the Seminary Thursday evening from 7 to 10 p. m.

The White Pine News says: B. B. Bird, during his explorations in the southern country, found the horn Breyfogle used in "homing" out gold from the lost mine more than forty years ago. Bird brought it along and it is now on exhibition at the Capital saloon here. It is quite a curiosity.

The Attorney-General of California has rendered the following opinion in relation to railroad and government lands. He says: Railroad grants are taxable before the patents issue. Also that government lands, for which land office receipts have been given and before the patent issue, are assessable. This will add about $3,000,000 to the assessable property of the State.

At Tacoma, Sunday, not a saloon, gambling-house, restaurant, cigar or news stand was open. Only one confectionery and two or three fruit stands in the city dared to keep open, and they will undoubtedly be prosecuted by the saloon-keepers. This is a result of the anti-saloon war. There are saloons in Tacoma, the doors of which have never been closed since the time they first opened from six to ten years ago until Sunday.

The thirty-second rehearsal of the Department of Music of Bishop Whitaker's school for girls took place last evening. The theater was comfortably filled with an appreciative audience, and the entertainment, under the able direction of Miss Eva Quaffie, was as usual next to perfect. Each number on the programme was excellently rendered and justly applauded. At the close of the entertainment Miss Vesta Rice in a beautiful gown presented Miss Eva Quaffie with a beautiful gold watch and other tokens from friends.

The Peoples' Party.

LAMOLLE VALLEY, June 9, 1891.

EDITOR STATE JOURNAL:—Your liberality in opening your columns for the discussion of all questions of public concern, whether the sentiments expressed meet your approval or not, is so at variance with the custom prevailing in journalism generally, that I feel bold in asking your indulgence in the interest of the new star in the political firmament in America's politics. The late Cincinnati convention has added a star of great magnitude to our political constellation which shines forth in resplendent beauty and attractive force, gaining daily strength and solidity by its innate vitality. Anxious eyes and throbbing hearts of millions of the yeomanry of the land are turned with earnest solicitude towards this star of hope, and the acclaim of millions greet its banners as they are moved along the aisles of popular opinion, from the East to the West and from the North to the South. By common consent it is named

"THE PEOPLES' PARTY."

Because its principles were crystallized in the hearts of the people and are enshrined in their affections. To it the people look for deliverance from boss rule and from the vassalage to which they have been reduced by class legislation in the interest of monopolies, money kings, political shysters and treasury leeches, who have for years been eating the substance of the people and sapping the very foundations of civil liberty. By the unholy alliance of capital with unscrupulous party manipulators, political ways, corrupt and mercenary officials, such legislation is enacted and such policies pursued, as to foster and build up the interests of a monied aristocracy, while the plebeians are being reduced to simply "hewers of wood and drawers of water."

In theory the people are sovereigns, and have the making and unmaking of Presidents and Congresses, but practically they have been, for decades, only the toys of party managers, and legislative bootlers, who have no use for them except to pay the taxes and do the fighting in the hour of the country's peril.

Corruption, greed of spoils, political degradation and disregard of the public weal are too firmly entrenched in the citadel of the old parties and especially of the one now in power, for the people to hope for relief through the agency of either.

The Republican party is ready to embrace free trade, absolute, under the name of reciprocity to save their sinking ship, while the Democratic party will halt not in giving up free coinage, and in swallowing the gold bug pill coated with a little taffy, if it can gain supremacy thereby. The same power and influence which has controlled every administration since the close of President Johnson's term, will enter in the next Presidential race; a Republican jackass and a Democratic lumbar, and damned be the difference which of these two wins, if either.

Love of our common country, self-respect and self-interest, combine in dictating to the people of Nevada the true policy to pursue in the coming struggle for supremacy at the ballot box. To point out this policy will be my object in future communications.

High School Exercises.

On next Friday afternoon at the Opera House, the Class of '91 of the Reno High School will be graduated with appropriate exercises. Though coming last in point of time, these exercises will be by no means least in interest and merit.

Six young ladies and one young gentleman compose the class and from all reports the theses and orations to be presented by them are most excellent in point of literary merit. Added to this fact they are short and will be delivered. Barlow & Fredrick's full orchestra will be on hand, and choice vocal music by some of Reno's best talent, will be interspersed with the theses. This will be the concluding of the educational exercises preceding vacation, and all interested must go early if they would secure seats.

A Sagebrush Nightingale.

The many friends of Miss Flora Finlayson, who is with the Bostonians, will learn with pleasure of the good impression which she has made in Chicago. The News of that city says of her performance in "Mignon": "Miss Finlayson has made such rapid progress since her first appearance a few months ago, that she may be considered one of the very best contraltos on the light opera stage. It is not too much to say that a better rendition of the gavotte in the second act has not been heard in English since Annie Louie Cary sang the part." This is praise, indeed.

FAREWELL, MISS QUAFFIE.

To know, to love, and then to part,
Is written of the human heart,
And we who gather here this eve
With o'er fraught hearts, must needs grieve,
For one to us most truly dear,
Who can no longer linger here,
In this her school home long years past
Through other walks her lot is cast.

She saw our Bishop's school begun,
Witnessed its struggles one by one,
Each girl who's passed the portals safe
Has known and loved our dear Miss Quaffie,
Each who as graduate has faced
The world finds in her heart deep placed
A memory yet of some great fear
Forever stilled by words of cheer.

Our teacher kind and true she's been,
Nor love or homage failed to win,
But more than this our friend, or guide,
Our school's and city's honest pride,
Her counsels good are changed to grace,
No other quite can fill her place,
To gently judge, to kindly hear
Has been her purpose far and near.

And though we're fain to say farewell,
Our sorrow we must full soon quell,
Alas! we cannot keep her here,
"Though lost to sight to memory dear."
Our loss is other's gain we know,
We think 'tis better she should go,
A helping hand to others give
And aid them nobler lives to live.

And when her music's sweet voice
No longer bids our hearts rejoice,
No longer tries our griefs to soothe
With silvery sounds our minds to move,
Her talent still must ever thrive
In pupils who will doubtless strive
Her name and fame to spread broadcast
In schools from the school days past.

But better seed than this she's sown,
Her Christian works are full well known,
No life in purpose strong and true
But all life must be pure too,
And as a candle throws its beams
So good deeds shine in fervent gleams
In greener fields and pastures new
Through future years God's work she'll do.

Accept this gift from those whose love
To thoughts of thee will ever move,
It carries with it wishes true,
Success and happiness to you,
Farewell! If ever fondest prayer
For others be not lost in air,
But for their weal avail on high,
Then wait thy name beyond the sky.

—VESTA M. RICE.

The Limited Mail.

The Limited Mail has scored a hit, says the New York Journal. The most fastidious lovers of sensational and realistic drama have in this drama all they can desire. The mechanical and scenic effects are striking pictures of the real, and the departure of the limited mail, the escape and the wreck produce grand effects. As for the play, it abounds in fun, and there is a tinge of that homely pathos running through it that is always welcome and creative of interest. The wonderful mechanical effects of "The Limited Mail" makes it one of, if not the strongest attraction of its kind on the road. Will appear this evening at McKissick's Opera House. See your seats at Hodgkinson's drug store.

CLOSING EXERCISES

Of the Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls.

On Wednesday morning at 9:30 the reading of essays for a prize by the Senior class. There were seven contestants for a $20 gold medal. The essays were sent to a committee of three in the east to be examined and graded. The four bearing the highest grade are to be read, the writer of the one bearing the highest grade to receive the medal. The art exhibit and awarding of prizes will also take place. All friends of the school are invited to be present.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited, and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or, in fact, at any time, and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

SORROW.

If sorrow the poet's heart has wrong,
Could you blame his song were it sadly sung?
Or the wounded bird that with drooping wing
Its mournful plaint can but feebly sing?
The rose in her beauty smiles not as bright
When the sun has withdrawn his kindly light.
Or his maimed orb, with the night dew wet—
The tears that he sheds when his gods he set.
You may have lost that which you love the best,
But hide not your bosom's deep unrest.
For song and flower and heart may be More pure and sweet for their agony.

DISENCHANTED.

"Of all things, a night journey is the most tedious," said Clarence Hatfield as he let himself fall heavily into the stiff and uncomfortable seat of the railway car, with its faded velvet cushions and its back at exactly the wrong angle for aught approaching a nap. "I say, Clifton, do you think we might smoke?"
"Well, I rather imagine not," said I,
with a motion of my head toward the other passengers. "There appears to be ladies on board."
Hatfield shrugged his shoulders.
"Such ladies!"
"Well," laughed I, "they don't appear to be particularly stylish in manner or costume, but nevertheless, my dear fellow, the divinity or their sex hedges
them around like a wall."
"Divinity of their humbug!" shortly interrupted Hatfield. "As if these ill-dressed dowdies, with babies and band-boxes, could possibly belong to the same world with Beatrice Hale!"
To this I made no answer. It did not seem to me exactly appropriate to lug the sacred name of Beatrice Hale into a discussion in a place like this. Yet what could I do, except to feel my cheeks flush and the roots of my hair tingle? For I was unmistakably in love with Bee Hale,
and so was Clarence Hatfield.

If I were to waste quarts of ink and reams of paper in trying to describe her innumerable charms and excellencies to the reader, it wouldn't do any good. Such things have been tried before, and failed.
Let him imagine the fairest brunette that sun ever shone on, and he may come somewhere near the mark. Suffice it to say that she was as beautiful as a dream, and that Hatfield and I were both slaves at her feet.
Which of us did she like best? Ah, that was the question! It was something like the children's old game of sea-saw. "Up I go, down you come." Sometimes I fancied I had a ghost of a chance
—sometimes I was convinced that Hatfield was altogether the preferred, and that I had better emigrate to Australia
at once.

"Hello!" cried Hatfield, breaking unceremoniously in upon the thread of my musing, "there goes the whistle. We shall be off directly. Thank goodness for that!"

And he put his feet on the opposite seat and prepared for as comfortable a four hours' ride as possible.

Clarence Hatfield and I, be it understood, were employees in the extensive business of Messrs. Jenkins, Jumperton & Co., auctioneers, and had been down to the country "putting up" a sale of swampy lots, cut into streets and squares,
according to the most approved metropolitan methods of doing such things.

It had been a dismal business. November is not an inspiring month at the best, and a three days' fog had conspired against the success of "Mount Morris Park," as Jenkins, Jumperton & Co. had christened the new speculation. Yet we had done reasonably well, and were now thankful enough to get back to New York.

As the train gave its starting lunge
the door flew open, and in came a tall old lady, in a prodigious black bonnet and a fur cloak, surrounded by a perfect chevaux-de-frise of squirrel cages, leather bags, brown paper parcels and sandwich boxes. She was followed closely by a younger lady, dressed in black and closely veiled, and paused hesitatingly
in front of our seat.

"Young man," said she, in a low voice,
as gruff as that of a man, "is this seat engaged?"

"Yes," said Hatfield; "it is."
"For your foot?"

"No matter what for," superciliously
replied the head clerk of Jenkins, Jump-erton & Co. "Please to pass on, old lady. You'll find seats enough beyond."

But this was a stretching of the truth.
There were no seats beyond, as the old lady could easily perceive, unless she chose to sit directly opposite a red hot cigar or upon one of those corner arrangements close to the door, which was equivalent to no seat at all.

The old lady hesitated and changed
her heavy carpet bag from one shoulder arm to the other. I thought of my own good Aunt Polly at home, and rose at once.

"Pray, take this seat, ma'am," said I.
"And let me put your parcel up in the rack for you."

"Clifton, what a fool you are!" cried
Hatfield, in an impatient sotto voce.
"Why couldn't you have sat still and minded your own business?"

"It is my own business," I answered brusquely, "to see that every lady is made as comfortable as it is in the nature of things to be. Now the squirrel cage, ma'am—it'll go very comfortably
under the seat, I think."

Hatfield uttered a contemptuous growl,
but he never offered to trust his feet off the opposite cushions, although the younger woman stood in the aisle, un-comfortably swaying backward and forward with the motion of the train, until a woman beyond, observing the state of affairs, drew a sleeping child into her lap and beckoned the other to take the place thus vacated.

By this time my old lady had established herself to her entire satisfaction,
and opened her sandwich box.

"Much obliged to you, young man,"
said she. "It is very nice to see that you've a mother at home, and that you're in the habit of doing a good deed for a poor old lady. As for this person," recoiled Mr. Hatfield, "if he's got a mother, I can't say much for her bringing of him up. Perhaps he may be old himself one day, and stand in need of a little politeness and consideration from the young."

"When I'm anxious for your good opinion, ma'am, I'll let you know," returned Mr. Hatfield, rather flippantly.
The old lady could only express herself by a vehement sniff. And even I was a little annoyed at his manner.

"Hatfield," said I in a low tone, "you might behave like a gentleman."
"So I will," he retorted, with a shrug.
"When I find myself in company that calls for such measures."

I said no more, but leaning up against the side of the door, prepared to make myself as comfortable as possible until the train should stop at Stamford, its first way station, and some descending passenger might make room for me.

Reader, did you ever stand in an express train in full motion? Did you ever feel yourself swayed backward and forward, bumping one of your phrenological developments against one side of the car, and bringing the base of your spinal column against the top of a seat at the opposite swerve of the train? Did you ever grasp blindly at nothing for support? Did you ever execute an involuntary pus seal, by way of keeping your balance, and then grind your teeth to see the two pretty young ladies beyond laughing at your antics? If so you will know how to pity me during the hour and a half between B. and Stamford.

Hatfield went to sleep and snored; the old lady in the gigantic bonnet ate sandwiches and drank from a wicker flask of excellent smelling sherry; the young lady sat as noiseless as a black veiled statue; fretful babies whimpered; old gentlemen uttered strange sounds in their sleep; the lamps flared like sickly moons overhead; and the shriek of the train as it flew through sleeping villages sounded like the yell of a fiery throated demon.

"Stamford!" bawled the conductor.
At last I succeeded in dropping my weary and stiffened limbs into a seat,
where slumber overtook me in just a minute and a quarter, for I had been asleep on my legs once or twice even in my former disadvantageous attitude,
and I could scarcely believe the evidence of my own senses when we finally thundered into the echoing vastness of the Grand Central depot in New York.

Hatfield, alive to the necessity of catching a car before all the world of travelers should crowd into it, stumbled over the old lady's ankles with small ceremony.

"Oh, take care! You have knocked the squirrel cage over!" cried she.
"Confound the squirrel cage!" shouted Hatfield, gnashing his teeth as the ancient dame placed herself directly in the aisle to set the furry pet up again, thereby completely blocking up his egress.

"Serves you right, Hatfield," said I,
as I stooped to assist.

Just then the young companion of our lady advanced, flinging back her veil.

"Grandma," said she, "the carriage is waiting. I'll send Thomas for the parcels. Mr. Clifton, I am very much obliged to you for your politeness to my grandmother, who is unused to traveling. As to Mr. Hatfield, the less said about his courtesy the better." And Beatrice Hale's black eyes flashed disdainfully on Clarence's cowed visage.

"Miss Hale," he stammered, "if I'd had the least idea who you were!"

"You would have regulated your conduct accordingly," impatiently interrupted Miss Hale. Thanks—I prefer to see people in their true light. Mr. Clifton," turning graciously to me, "you'll call and see how grandma stands her journey tomorrow, won't you? Oh, thank you! The carriage is close by."

And to this day I believe that is the way I won my wife, for Clarence Hatfield was a brilliant, showy sort of a fellow, who far outshone me in general society, and I think Bee was inclined rather to fancy him until that night.

But she was disenchanted now for good and all. And Grandma Hale comes to see us every Christmas with a hamper of good things from Hale farm.—Boston
